

WHAT CAN I DO WITH AN URBAN & COMMUNITY STUDIES DEGREE?

ATTEND GRADUATE SCHOOL FOR ANY OF THE FOLLOWING:

Social Work
Urban and Regional Planning
Economic Development
Public Administration
Nonprofit Management
Law

Public Policy
Architecture and Urban Design
Urban Sustainability
Criminal Justice
Public Health
Environmental Studies

Business Administration
Education
Public History
Survey Research
Counseling
Homeland Security

WORK IN THE FOLLOWING FIELDS:

An Urban and Community Studies (UCS) degree provides a solid foundation for the following fields and careers.

Criminal Justice/Law

- Probation and parole
- Rehabilitation counseling
- Federal, state or local law enforcement
- Juvenile court or victim advocacy
- Public, private or corporate law
- Criminal justice research and analysis

Planning/Public Service

- Urban and regional planning
- Federal, state and local government services (i.e., housing, transportation, education, health, etc.)
- Economic, real estate and/or community development
- Sustainability and environmental management
- Demography
- Land and natural resource management
- Historical preservation/curation
- Journalism

Public Health

- Health education
- Health promotion
- Health policy
- Environmental health and wellness
- Community health advocacy
- Disease prevention
- Health administration

Public Policy

- Public policy analysis
- Survey research
- Government services
- Public administration
- Consulting
- Advocacy

Public/Nonprofit Management

- Program management
- City management
- Philanthropic development and fundraising
- Leadership development
- Resource management and planning
- Community Outreach
- Research and program development
- Human Resources
- Public Relations

Social Services/Community Organizing

- Case management for underserved populations (youth, elderly, immigrants, etc.)
- Counseling (i.e., domestic violence, substance abuse, mental health, education, etc.)
- Outreach and advocacy
- Social Work
- Community Organizing

The information above is just a sampling of graduate degrees and career fields one could pursue with our UCS major.

Please inquire about our emphasis areas or how to go about personalizing your degree plan.

Some fields may require additional post-graduate degree(s) and/or certification(s).

FOR ADDITIONAL PROGRAM OR CONTACT INFORMATION VISIT