Asynchronous online film course offering for Summer Session 1!
Great Option for Gen Ed Content Area 1a!

AMST/URBN 2400:
The City in Film: Small Town Version
with Dr. Ruth Glasser

How have small towns and their communities been portrayed in feature films of the distant and recent past? How do these depictions measure up against both the commonly held images and realities of American small town life? This course will explore movies that foreground the small town as protagonist. You will have an opportunity to compare small town films and analyze them historically and technically. Work with your classmates to view and write about a body of small town films from the 2000s and 2010s!

Watch and Discuss Movies!

For more information, contact Dr. Glasser at ruth.glasser@uconn.edu